

*EVERYTHING WILL BE BETTER IN THE FUTURE
SEEMS OLD*

Just another building in full forced rain or shine maybe snow Something will happen here in the near future

To navigate the surface of a heavy topic, driving down the information superhighway

I'm buying land, it's cheap, let me take a selfie

The useless is the best I can get

I'm applying irony to get rid of my feelings Irony is as exclusive as anything else

A growing phenomena copy paste:
vegan organic fresh

Shellfish in early summer wind In a system based on greed water quality will suffer

Something is missing here:
not possible to calculate on your computer

The age of discovery did not end in the 18th century Everything will get better in the future seems old excellent as fertilizer

Artificial lights over growing plants, fish in large tanks
A magic cloak settles over any surface where rare flowers could grow

Create theory and stay safe

Representing a failure of the water treatment:
this train does not stop at the station, it uses the far end of the platform

An erosion of the economic and industrial base not possible to calculate party for real

Leftovers of modernization and modernism It's happening everywhere, it's s p r e a d i n g

Somebody did call from the place I kept my fingers happy with the newfound discovery of farming

Created from a nothing to discover information or resources My fingers in the grave

Are you ready for your first mission, Nomadic Alchemy?

Winter came early and left late sprouted signs in the soil

What is not visible does not exist

I ride the lanes dividing the city into manageable pieces Language and Internet requires that opposites come together, grasping for information

Mapmaking is a longterm project:
it says “no new messages”
and you check it again

Repetition starts knowing nothing new will happen

Everything will be better in the future seems old 2014
